

PUBLISHER'S PICKS

by Ezra Levant

Mark Steyn's new book hit number two on Amazon.ca's bestseller list last month, but Chapters-Indigo still hadn't deigned to put it on their shelves. Lucky Western Standard readers have already been treated to an exclusive excerpt.

(Regnery, 256 pages)

Western Standard reader Calvin Helin's book is a manifesto for Canadians who want to liberate aboriginals from dependence and the social ills that come with it. A brilliant lawyer and businessman, Helin is proof the cycle of despair can be broken, and paternalistic government is often not the solution.

(Orca Spirit Publishing and Communications, 304 pages)